

Tracing Template

Cut out solid black areas and use as a tracing template to place outlines for painting. Lightly trace outlines onto doll's face with a pencil, then finish any broken lines around and in eyes. When satisfied with your outlines, start with the pupils, leaving reflections blank. If working with fabric markers, allow each color to dry before starting the next, unless you wish to have colors bleed and blend together as an effect. Paint white and light reflections on eyes with an opaque textile paint last when all other layers of paint and dye have dried.
